

The 18th hole: The strong finishing hole plays as a par 4 for men and a par 5 for the ladies. Long hitters will have a blind tee shot over the hill and must split the fairway to avoid interference from the trees on the left and right on their second shot. An uphill tee shot and elevating green will leave most golfers with a long iron or fairway wood approach shot that must avoid the bunkers guarding the left and right side of the green in front. A left back pin Placement will force golfers to face a very large break on most putts. Par is a great score on this strong finishing hole.

This is a good driving hole. If you go left watch out for the palms to block your shot. An elevated approach shot makes it tough. Par is a good score on 18.

Keep both 1st and 2nd shots straight and you're good, go of line and your in trouble, a good finishing hole

Dan Huffman

Mike Roberts

Nice, straightforward fairway until you approach the bunkers around the green!

Nice hole. Keep the ball in the center of the fairway and out of the bunkers surrounding the green. Easy Peezy (for some LOL)

Scott Weaver

Great finishing hole. Plenty of fairway to hit, but the trees down the left side seem to be golf ball magnet. Bunkers on both sides of green catch a lot of approach shot and the green is plenty big enough to accomodate 3 putts.
